

I strongly urge you not to weaken Indiana's no-call law. I do not want to be solicited in my own home by anyone. My family's privacy is sacred. I am very proud of the lead Indiana has taken in this regard. The FCC should respect the rights of citizens to make this choice and not compromise it with the bizarre logic of appealing to a weaker law protecting these rights in order to in fact diminish protection.